American Legion Plans Banner Track Meet: No Drastic Changes in Foot Ball Expected

EVENTS FOR ALL CLASSES IN GAMES HERE ON MAY 6

BY H. C. BYRD.

THE American Legion is planning for one of the biggest outdoor track and field meets ever held in the south, here on May 6, in the Central stadium. Twenty-four events, comprising competitions for Central stadium. Twenty-four events, comprising competitions for high and prep schools, colleges and legionaires, besides numerous relay races ta be scheduled, will give local followers of sports more in the way of athletics than they have had in a single afternoon in a long while. Several events closed to high and prep schools are listed, five are to be held solely for the former Army or Navy men, and the remainder are to be open to entries from any organization.

Strong efforts are to be made to get the colleges in this section to enter their squads. At least two already have signified their intention to put in their full teams, and strong pressure is being brought to bear on others. Some of the schools which have dual meets scheduled are being importuned to cancel them and enter their teams. This is the case with the Hopkins-Navy dual meet at Annapolis that day; prospects are good that both schools will agree to call off the both schools will agree to call off the event and enter their men here.

Has Gotten Fine Start.

Charley Swan, who is handling the managerial arrangements for the games, says indications are good for the best outdoor meet ever held in the south. "If attempts within the next six weeks to get entries are as productive as in the last two," says Swan, "we'll show the people here a real meet. One of the feature events we expect to put on will be a special hundred-yard dash for the championship of the south. Brewer of Maryland and Le Gendre of Georgetown already have promised to compete in this."

Scholastic events scheduled for the meet: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, see the special Events.

The special events will consist of the hundred-yard dash for the south. Proceeds of the meet are to be used to help meet expenses of the local department of the legion in caring for charitable help wherever and whenever cases where such aid is needed are brought to its attention. The meet: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, see the special Events.

RUTH LOOKS TO INCREASE IN HIS PRINCELY SALARY

Special Dispatch to The Star

TEW ORLEANS, La., March 10 .- George Herman Ruth, high priest of swat, does not consider that a salary equaling that of the President of the United States by any means represents the ultimate worth of a real base ball star.

It will all depend on how much money the battling Babe has drawn at the gate during the next five seasons, and just how many suspensions from Judge Landis that he has not drawn. Babe declared today that hereafter he was "a business man." The two colonels agreed with him. Ruth believes that he is just enter-ing the domain of big accomplish-water baths, marked his period of

"Why, man, I'm just beginning to bat," he said, unconsciously paraphrasing his great naval prototype, John Paul Jones.

"Guess I'll have a late start this year, all right," he continued, with a grin, "so I won't put a number on the home runs, but I will make more than last year, and keep on making more."

Buoyant with youth, riding the top wave of popularity, confident that he has not neared the pinnacle of his career, Ruth nevertheless had a dark half hour today. Some one brought up the subject of the income tax and began to figure things out for the Bambino. "Business man" that he is, Babe needs a little help at "figgers" now and then. So his killjoy friend with the pencil reluctantly convinced Ruth that every' time he knocks a home run in 1922 he will have to way! I have to way!

Babe needs a little help at "figgers" now and then. So his killjoy friend with the pencil reluctantly convinced Ruth that every time he knocks a home run in 1922 he will have to pay to his Uncle Sam something like $168.33. In other words, if the present rate of income tax keeps up, and the unhappy prospects are that it will, the United States Treasury will grab off just one-third of every dollar that Babe Ruth makes during the next five years.

Will Make Him Busier.

"Guess I'll have to 'bust' out more of 'em than I thought I would," said the Babe, scratching his head in an attempt at real deep thought.
Ruth was asked if he thought other ball players were worth salaries approximating his own. Without putting it just that way, Babe refused to be invidious.

"A man who works for another is not going to be paid any more than he is worth, you can bet on that," replied Ruth. "A man ought to get what he can earn. Don't make any difference whether it's running a show, a man who knows he is making money for other people ought to get what he can earn.
